Forecast For East of England
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 0400 on Tuesday 13 Jul 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 0600 and 1800

Headline:
Showers at first but warmer settled weather expected from mid-week.

Today:
A cloudy start as the remnants of the overnight showers slowly die out. During the morning skies will brighten with some sunny spells developing, as well as perhaps the odd shower in the west. Maximum temperature 21 deg C (70 deg F).

Tonight:
Clear spells at first but cloud will soon return inland with most parts cloudy by the early hours. Mainly dry apart from perhaps the odd spot of coastal drizzle. Minimum temperature 14 deg C (57 deg F).

Wednesday:
A cloudy start with the odd spot of coastal drizzle. However, skies will brighten during the morning with some warm afternoon sunshine likely, as well as perhaps an isolated shower. Maximum temperature 24 deg C (75 deg F).

Outlook for Thursday to Saturday:
Largely dry and warm through this period, with long sunny spells. Mist and low cloud may affect coastal areas, where it will be a little cooler, during the morning.

(C) Crown Copyright 2021. Published by the Met Office.